Hap Stein

Chairman and Chief Executive Officer

Regency Centers began more than 50 years ago with the vision and values on which Joan and Martin Stein founded our Company. Since that time Regency has grown to be the preeminent national owner, operator, and developer of shopping centers. Our values, including the critical importance that we place on corporate responsibility, have been and always will be the foundation of who we are and what we do. They shape and support our business. Through our close relationships with our tenants, investors, communities, and employees, we look to continuously better not only our portfolio and company, but also the work environment and the communities where we work, invest, and operate.

Our people are our most fundamental asset — the best professionals in the business who live our values and bring Regency’s special culture to life every day. We believe that when a group of employees is passionate about what they do and whom they are working with, they achieve superior results. Our Healthy Lifestyle initiative and highly recognized benefits programs are examples of our concern for the welfare of our people.

By working together and partnering with our stakeholders, our talented team of nearly 450 employees becomes the driving force connecting our retail centers to our communities. This is achieved through outstanding merchandising and placemaking, developing new properties, and revitalizing owned centers. We are long-term stewards of our real estate.

At Regency, our people contribute to the betterment of the communities where we live, work, and operate. With local offices integrated into the communities where we own shopping centers, we place great value on philanthropy and being good corporate citizens. Our employees’ contributions, together with Regency’s matching gifts program, have resulted in a substantial involvement through volunteer hours and funding to local charities including United Way and Habitat For Humanity.

This commitment to stakeholders is exemplified by embracing best-in-class corporate governance. We are open and transparent, and work hard to enhance the investments of our shareholders, lenders, and partners. Our unwavering standards of honesty and integrity have been at the core of who we are. Regency has built its reputation by maintaining the highest ethical principles and doing what is right.

Regency's Core Values

Being a model corporate citizen also means thoughtful stewardship of the environment. As a developer and long-term holder of our real estate, we continue to implement sustainable building and operating practices. We are committed to identifying and implementing sustainable business practices in order to minimize our environmental impact and position our assets for long-term success. Our approach to environmental stewardship focuses on material environmental topics such as air pollution, climate change, and resource scarcity. As the first REIT and second U.S. company to issue a Green Bond, we are keenly aware of how workable actions and results are key to being a sustainability leader.

Our successes in 2017, in addition to our 25 years as a public company, have been gratifying. At the same time, resting on our laurels is not part of Regency's character. Our commitments to ensuring that our business remains relevant, and to continuous improvement, have never been more important — especially as the business environment evolves. Looking forward, we are determined to distinguish ourselves by effectively employing our combination of unequalled strategic advantages to produce superior results that include positive impacts for a better tomorrow. Not only does this encompass a consistent dedication to customer value and growing earnings, but it also delivers on our corporate responsibility pillars: our People, our Communities, our Ethics and Governance, and our Environmental Stewardship. As a result, these diligent efforts will support growing shareholder value.

Sincerely,

Hap Stein

About Regency

Regency Centers (REG) is the preeminent national owner, operator, and developer of neighborhood shopping centers. With more than 400 retail properties, our premier national portfolio totals nearly 60 million square feet. Our properties are located in affluent and densely populated trade areas of the U.S., differentiated by outstanding quality, breadth, and scale.

In 2017 we marked an important milestone: the merger with Equity One and the successful integration of our two companies. This business combination has met or exceeded all of our high expectations. After closing in March, Regency joined the S&P 500 Index and is now the country's largest shopping center REIT. Now more than ever, our platform provides for sizeable scale benefits, including operational efficiencies, relative cost of capital, and significant value creation opportunities.

Our sector-leading portfolio, located in the nation's most attractive markets, continues to draw successful retailers and shoppers while generating impressive same-property NOI growth. Regency's platform currently spans 21 market offices, giving us an unequalled local presence and deep connection to the communities we serve. Property management, leasing, construction, and investment activities are conducted in each of these regional offices.

Regency's unrivaled combination of in-process and pipeline projects, plus key tenant and local relationships, creates significant value through the development and redevelopment of high-quality shopping centers. Our track record is impressive with more than $1 billion in project starts in the last five years alone.

Through our capital allocation and funding strategies, we have continued to maintain balance sheet strength. This combination of unequalled strategic advantages has positioned Regency to produce sector-leading total shareholder returns.

Regency's Approach to Corporate Responsibility

Regency's Approach to Corporate Responsibility: Our Pillars

 Our People: Our people are our most fundamental asset. They are the best professionals in the business, and each one brings our unique culture to life through their actions. This culture allows our employees to live our values on a daily basis to ensure that our business aligns with our corporate responsibility strategy. Our efforts in maintaining and enhancing a safe and pleasant work place include employee well-being and empowerment with a focus on health and benefits, training and education, safety and diversity. When people are passionate about their work and feel connected to their teams, they perform better. Our highly engaged team is a critical component in achieving our strategic objectives.

 Ethics and Governance: We do what is right. As stewards of our investors' capital we place great emphasis on integrity and transparency. Since Regency was founded more than 50 years ago, we have based our business policies on the highest ethical principles. We are committed to best-in-class corporate governance practices. This promotes long-term value creation for our stakeholders, a strong culture of business compliance, and full transparency in our reporting.

 Our Communities: It is crucial that we better the communities where we operate, live and work by connecting our thriving shopping centers directly to our neighborhoods. We are long-term owners of our shopping centers with a local office presence in every major market of operation. Regency's professionals live in the communities we serve. Philanthropy and giving back to these communities are cornerstones of what we do and who we are.

Our local market teams customize our centers; bringing merchants and shoppers together to shop and dine in vibrant community gathering places. These centers utilize distinctive designs that emphasize convenience, visibility, and connectivity.

With a complete in-house real estate team, we have the expertise to operate, develop, and redevelop our centers. This includes merchandising with a mix of retailers that attract shoppers, create jobs, and enhance the local business environment. These investments result in positive impacts for our merchants and communities while providing significant value creation and earnings growth for our shareholders.

 Environmental Stewardship: Regency is committed to identifying and implementing sustainable business practices to minimize our environmental impact and position our assets for long-term success. Our approach to environmental stewardship focuses on integrating management responsibilities across our development and operations business units. This addresses material environmental topics such as air pollution, climate change, and resource scarcity. We accomplish this by focusing on these five strategic priorities: green building, energy efficiency, greenhouse gas emission reductions, water conservation, and waste management.

About This Report

We prepared this report using the framework of the Global Reporting Initiative (GRI) Standards, the most widely used guidelines for corporate sustainability reporting. This report has been prepared in accordance with the GRI Standards: Core option.

Stakeholder Engagement

To own, operate, and develop successful shopping centers, we at Regency Centers must engage with a wide variety of stakeholders including shareholders, bondholders, lenders, employees, joint venture partners, tenants, and the local communities where our properties are located. Considering the needs and feedback of these stakeholders is crucial to the value-creation process as they are often vested in our projects and are in a position to significantly influence long-term success.

Shareholders, Bondholders, and Lenders

Regency's Capital Markets and Investor Relations team engages year-round with shareholders, bondholders, and lenders. In addition to frequent communication, this team also hosts headquarters visits, property tours, and non-deal road shows. These equip stakeholders with Regency-specific knowledge that empowers them to decide where to allocate their capital. Furthermore, we aim to host Investor Days every two to three years to offer additional opportunities for investors and analysts to engage with our management team. As a member of the National Association of Real Estate Investment Trusts (Nareit) and the International Council of Shopping Centers (ICSC), Regency interacts with stakeholders at each industry group's respective conferences. By annually updating the Investor Relations Strategic Plan, with consideration of feedback provided by investor perception studies, we are able to set targets, objectives, and measurable goals that reflect and address concerns and feedback voiced by key stakeholders.

Employees

Our employees are offered a variety of channels to voice their feedback, including an annual employee engagement survey, employee review meetings, quarterly town hall meetings, and Q&A sessions with Regency's Operating Committee. Employees also participate in special projects and training workshops that allow them to directly influence business processes and systems. Most importantly, our unique culture fosters an open-door policy that encourages employees to express suggestions, opinions, and concerns without requiring a formal channel. Through these avenues, employees are empowered to speak up about how Regency can continue to enhance our special culture by keeping employees engaged.

Joint Venture Partners

While the majority of Regency's properties are wholly-owned, we do have partnerships with best-in-class institutional investors and developers. We seek to ensure all parties have aligned strategies, values, and similar investment objectives. Proactive engagement with partners is a priority for our Joint Venture Portfolio Management team. Among these engagement mechanisms are annual meetings, quarterly leasing calls, monthly financial calls, and property tours. By maintaining a continuous dialogue with our partners, we are able to monitor and address any issues that may arise. Increasingly, large institutional partners are inquiring about and taking Regency's ESG initiatives and programs into consideration.

Tenants

Our in-house Property Management team maintains daily contact with tenants and conducts frequent property inspections. Our team facilitates an annual tenant survey that solicits input on property operations, sustainability initiatives, and marketing programs. Before implementing a new tenant-marketing program we host a series of focus groups across the country to acquire feedback from existing and potential tenants. These efforts serve as powerful aspects of maintaining and increasing tenant satisfaction across our portfolio.

Communities

We engage our communities through open houses, town halls, and an active social media presence. Through these channels we can provide communities with information that ensures our shopping centers support their interests and needs. Sentiment and feedback conveyed through social media and continued dialogue with local agencies and community groups allow us to assess the effectiveness of these efforts. There is also great importance placed on our engagement with local and regional planning agencies, municipal boards, and permitting authorities to ensure projects are initiated in compliance with local regulatory requirements. All of this is done through our local offices in conjunction with corporate support.

Materiality

This Regency Centers Corporate Responsibility Report aims to present a balanced and concise analysis of our management and performance related to material issues.

1. Identification

Material issues can impact our company’s ability to achieve its strategic objectives and remain commercially sustainable, as well as socially and environmentally responsible. We identify material issues through gathering investor feedback, performing environmental impact studies, and conducting surveys of employees, tenants, partners, vendors, board members, and others including peer-benchmarking.

2. Assessment

We assessed the extent that material issues impact Regency’s value chain and their importance to our stakeholders to determine their relevance within this report. Employee Health and Safety

Employee health and safety is a top priority. We encourage employees to achieve their personal health goals through a robust wellness program focused on education, awareness, and prevention. Regency's wellness program provides employees with access to an annual health screening, and education on a variety of topics, including nutrition, exercise, mental health, and workplace ergonomics. The voluntary program encourages participation by offering incentives to those who participate.

For 10 consecutive years, Regency Centers has received the First Coast Healthiest Companies Award from Jacksonville's First Coast Worksite Wellness Council; originally the Mayor's Council on Fitness and Well-Being, including PLATINUM recognition the last four years.

This award honors companies that demonstrate a serious commitment to employee health by implementing comprehensive worksite health-promotion strategies focused on key wellness areas. Our annual health fair, company-paid health screenings, wellness program, employee assistance program, health advocate program, and many other initiatives supported by senior leadership are critical to the success of this achievement.

Regency's corporate headquarters has employee first-responders trained in CPR, first aid, AED, and blood-borne pathogens. They receive refreshment training on a biennial basis. These first-responders are critical to ensure a building evacuation is managed safely and properly during a crisis.

Our Communities

Our Communities

Philanthropy

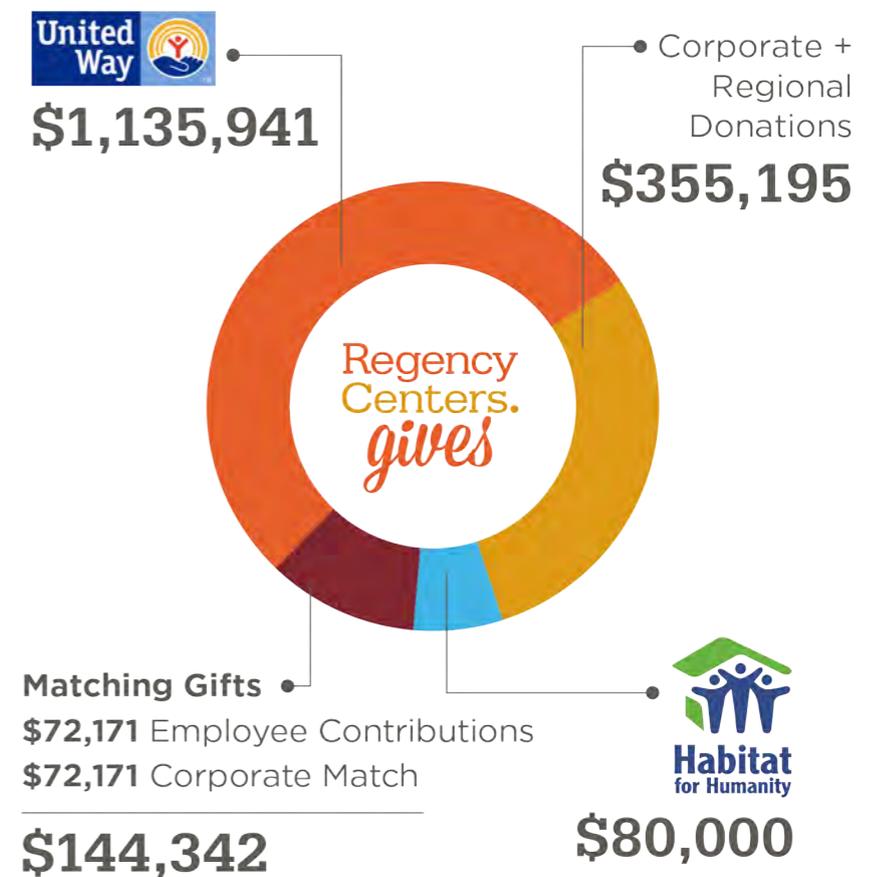

Our philanthropic efforts date back to the founding of Regency Centers, and contributing to the betterment of our communities remains one of our Core Values. Employees are encouraged to support philanthropic programs of their choice through employee-donation matching. Employees also receive up to 52 hours of paid time off per year to volunteer.

We directly sponsor a variety of philanthropic causes, including annual giving and volunteering campaigns for both United Way and Habitat for Humanity. Our Executive Committee designates a chairperson for the annual United Way campaign. During this time, each office selects a local United Way agency to support with company-paid volunteer hours. More than 96% of employees participated in giving to United Way during our 2017 annual campaign. The Company also matched employee contributions $0.50 for every dollar, up to $5,000 per employee, during the campaign. Many employees are also involved with the United Way at a local level as board or committee members, annual fund campaign leaders, or volunteers.

Similarly, as part of Regency’s Matching Gifts program, the Company matches employee gifts to other qualifying non-profit charitable organizations helping to amplify the impact of an employee’s contribution. Regency employees contributed more than $72,000 to these nonprofits in 2017, which was matched entirely by Regency’s Matching Gifts program.

In total, Regency employees raised $1,715,478 in personal and company-matched monetary donations in 2017 — averaging $3,855 per person. Additionally, 91% of Regency employees donated their time to community service during 2017. This does not include volunteer hours employees completed outside of normal working hours.

Investing in Communities

We strive to improve our communities by investing in property enhancements and placemaking at our new and existing shopping centers.

Development and redevelopment oversight comes from our Executive Committee and Board of Directors. The Capital Allocation Committee approves development and redevelopment projects, and monitors progress and performance through quarterly business reviews, Investment Committee meetings, and Board meetings.

Responsibility for this area of engagement with communities lies with our Executive Vice President of Investments, Executive Vice President of Operations, Managing Directors, and General Counsel. Each plays a role in monitoring Regency’s overall engagement with public agencies and legislative bodies to ensure compliance with all applicable laws and regulations.

We have developed strong partnerships with cities, municipalities, and local communities. Our local teams ensure our projects improve the neighborhoods we serve by engaging directly with the community. Our relationships support the development of successful shopping centers that become woven into the fabric of the local community.

As an example, Westwood Complex in Bethesda, MD will be a $300 million investment in that community. This redevelopment includes retail, office, and residential components resulting in numerous construction jobs over the project’s six-year construction period as well as permanent jobs upon completion. The ongoing maintenance required of private streets, utilities, and community gathering spaces will create permanent jobs, as will the leasing and management of the mixed-use property. Furthermore, this Westwood Complex redevelopment will offer an increase in taxable income as a result of new jobs, higher property taxes created by increased property value, and an increase in sales tax payments from incremental customer spending. These additional revenues will allow for continued municipal improvements within the community.

In addition to property improvements, job creation, and increases in tax revenues for local governments, we also bring socioeconomic improvements to local communities by enhancing the value of the shopping centers. This result is achieved by partnering with best-in-class grocery anchors, restaurants, and service providers. Studies show that adding a specialty grocer, like Whole Foods Market, to a shopping center enhances the overall community by positively impacting home values while providing direct access to fresh, healthy, organic food choices.

Our development and major redevelopment project completions in 2017 resulted in a nearly 70% increase in property taxes paid to local municipalities as a result of our investment.

Fresh Look®

Our Fresh Look initiative, featuring dynamic merchants and thoughtful placemaking, creates engaging gathering spaces for public events and better connects our centers to the neighborhood. This further supports our goal towards the betterment of the communities we serve.

The Importance of a Strong Merchandising Mix

No two shopping centers are the same, and we strive to make each one reflect the local community’s interests and daily needs. We pair unique local merchants with anchor tenants along with larger regional/national brands. Not only do they complement one another by providing a dynamic mix for people to enjoy, they drive shoppers to visit the center — whether it’s for necessity, entertainment, or leisure.

Regency’s in-house Market Research team employs new and emerging technologies to better understand consumer behavior. This allows us to make informed merchandising decisions at our centers. Our Market Research specialists also utilize the psychographics of our trade areas to better understand localized consumer demands and expectations.

Placemaking and Connecting to the Community

Regency relies on the expertise of internal and external architects and branding experts to create centers that are reflective of the community’s culture, history, and lifestyle, while enticing consumers to shop and stay.

This is achieved in many ways, which includes the sourcing of local artists to create vibrant murals that are aesthetically pleasing and a relevant visual fit for the community. When possible, we draw inspiration from the neighborhood’s history and use reclaimed materials from historic buildings in the construction process. We’ve even undertaken efforts to revive historic objects with the nation’s top restoration professionals to ensure that a center feels unique and reflects the local community.

Community Engagement

By definition, our projects are intended to have an impact in the communities where they are situated. Therefore, it is crucial that we maintain an open and transparent dialogue with the communities we serve. This starts by proactively and openly communicating our project plans, while remaining willing to address all feedback.

With the abundance of information platforms, our team must remain up-to-date, active, and engaged with a variety of media types. This includes social media, traditional media, community groups, and local organizations. With the support of our in-house corporate Marketing and Communications team, we can provide strategies and tools that effectively build trust and discourse for the entirety of our centers' stewardship. This includes open houses, town halls, and dedicated social media.

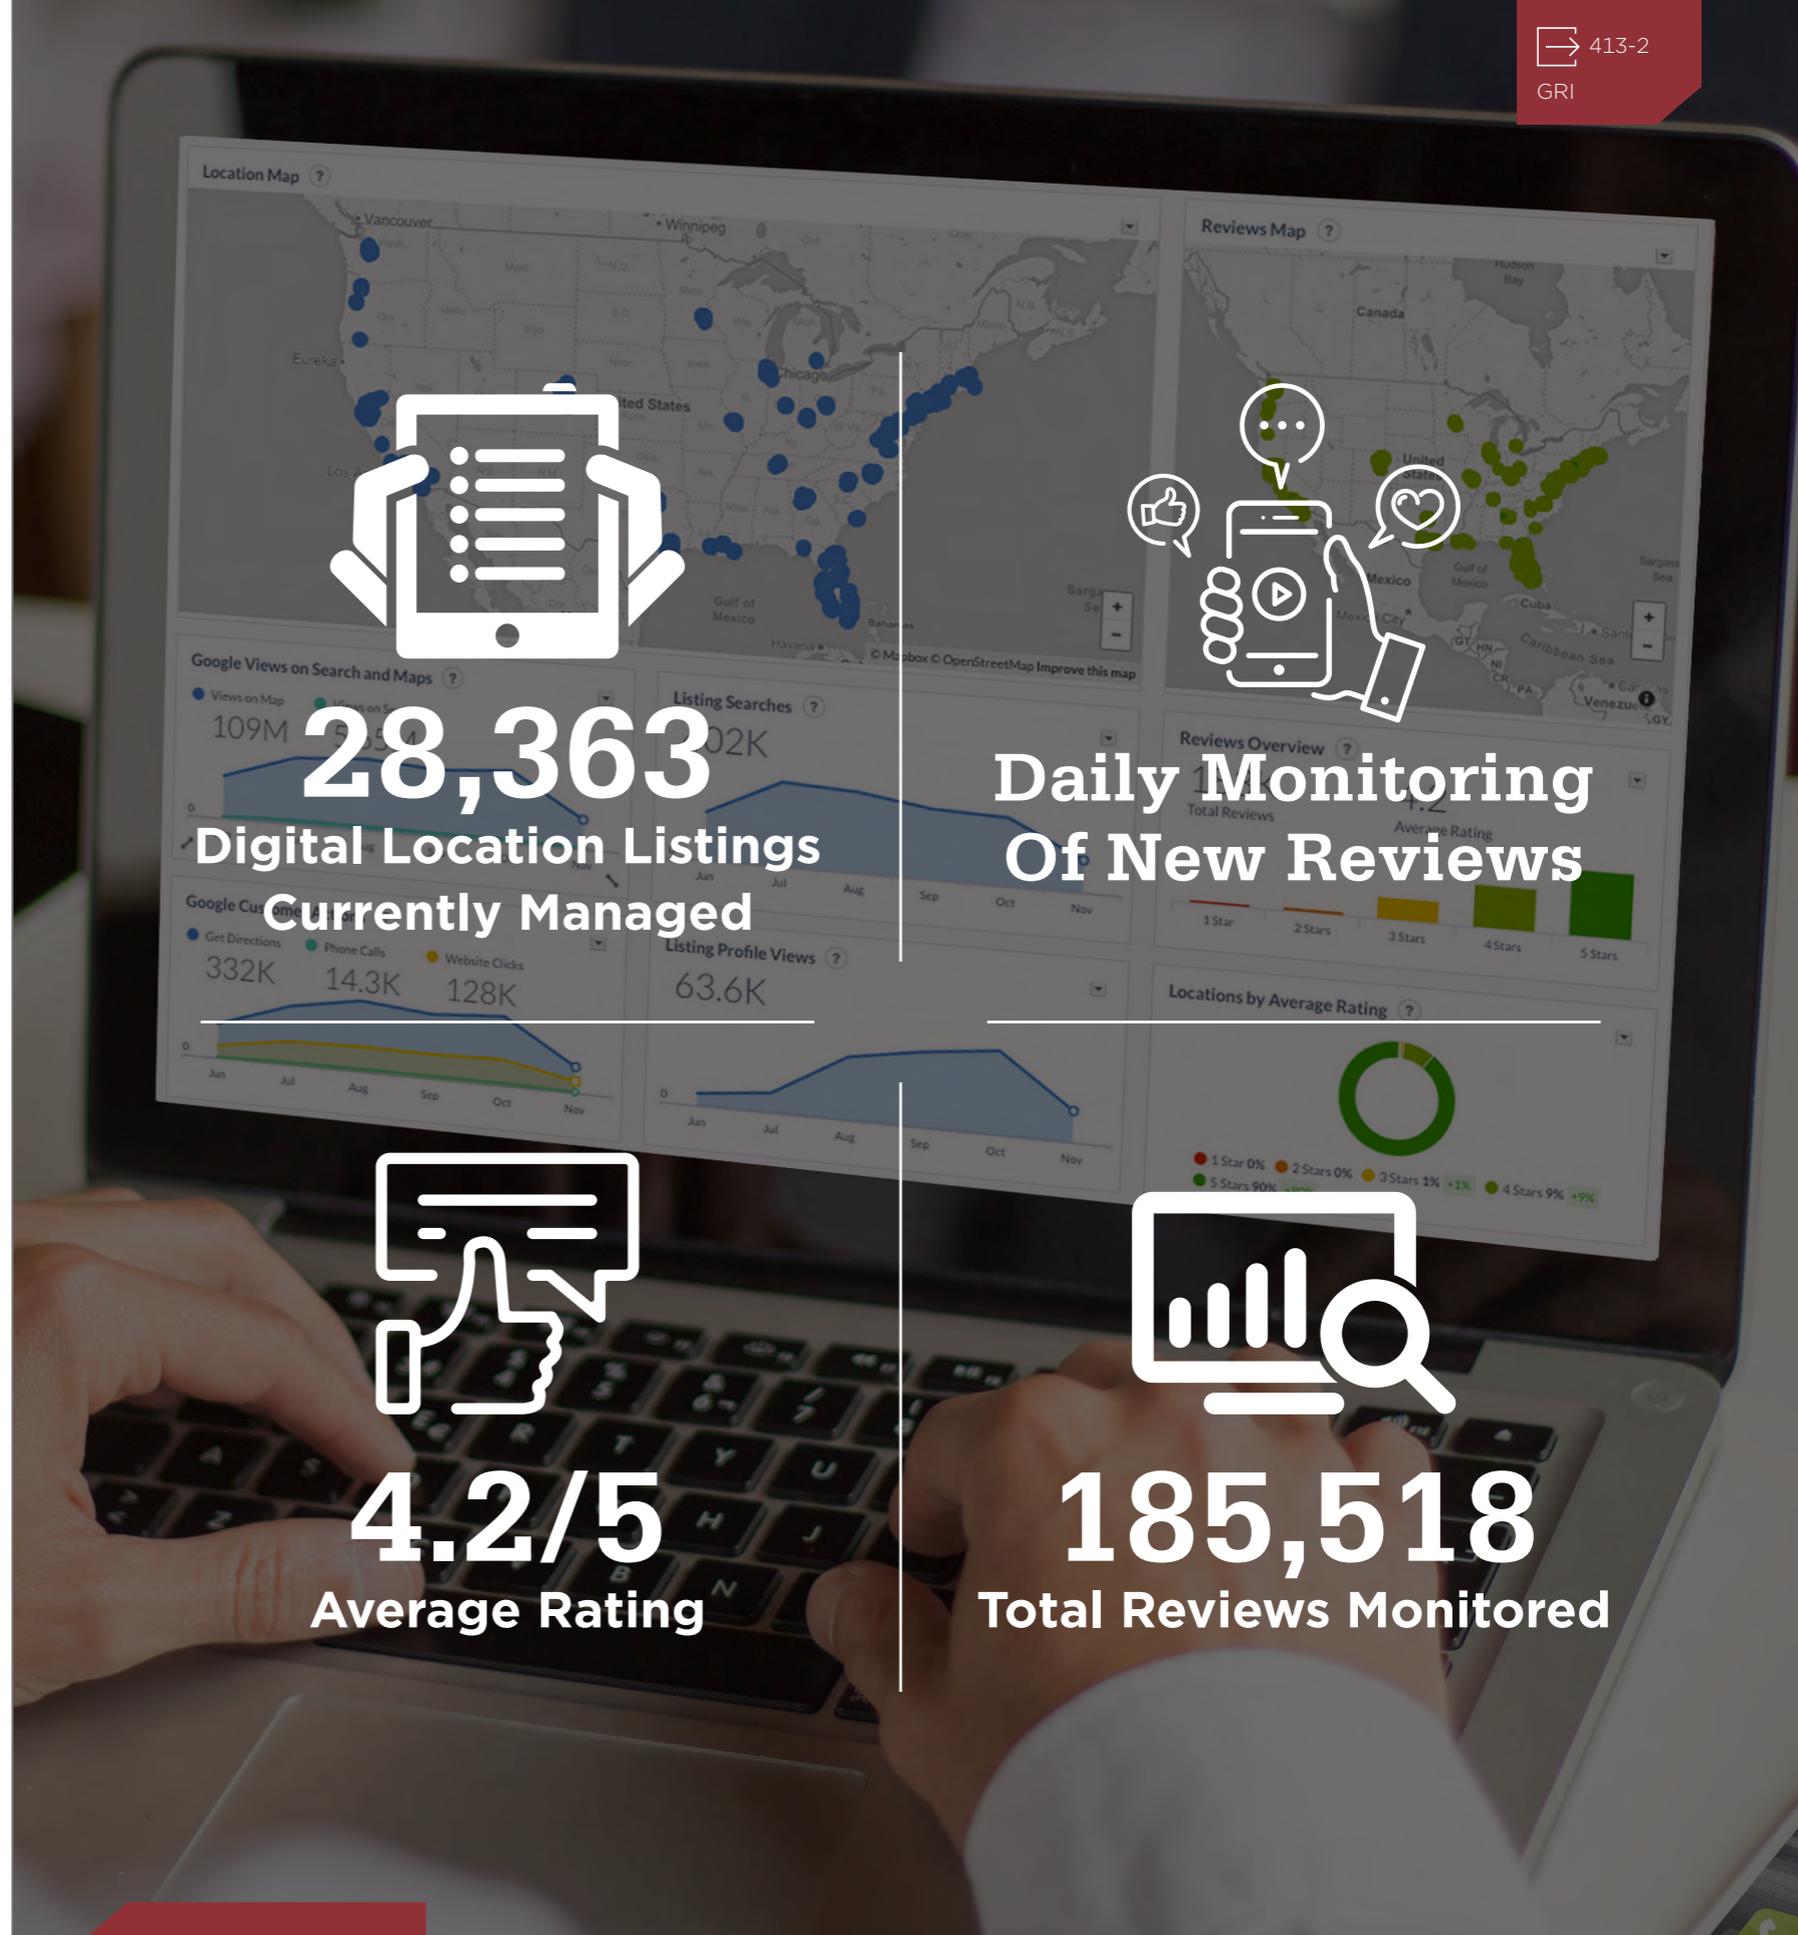

Ensuring the public has accurate information is fundamental to maintaining the community's trust.

Voice of the Customer

We use several channels to engage with our tenants and shopping center customers.

In addition to regular phone and email communications, tenants use a work-order system on our corporate website to alert Property Operations of specific needs at their center. Tenant surveys are also conducted on an annual basis for new tenants, and on a biennial basis for our entire portfolio. The results help us gain further insights from more than 9,000 tenants. These surveys include requested input on sustainable initiatives and potential marketing programs.

Public sentiment is monitored through social media platforms including our corporate Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, and LinkedIn accounts, plus center-specific social media accounts. Each of our centers has a corresponding Facebook page, which allows the public to “check in” or comment with center-specific praise or concerns. These are also managed on a network of more than 100 digital-listings sites for accuracy and consumer discovery. This network includes multiple review sites, including Yelp and Google My Business, with daily review monitoring through a dashboard managed by the Marketing and Communications team.

Customer Health and Safety

Regency strives to provide a safe and secure experience for customers and merchants. Top-quality tenants draw customers; however, a safe environment retains their continued business.

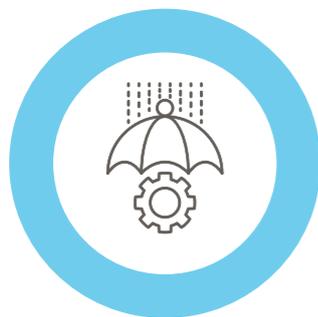

Regency’s in-house Property Operations team handles day-to-day oversight of center maintenance, security, and tenant relations. These professionals are located in each of our office locations, providing valuable boots-on-the-ground service. The Property Operations team uses the Regency Playbook — a summary of best practices — as part of standard operating procedures.

The Property Operations team also performs frequent activities for the benefit of our centers, including:

- Frequent property inspections to identify property-level areas for improvement
- Capital surveys and budget exercises for the purpose of identifying areas for capital repairs, replacements, or improvements to be included in the capital plan
- Annual Chubb Stewardship Reporting facilitated by Risk Management conducted as a supplemental property inspection performed by a third party on a sample of properties each year to further identify areas of improvement in order to mitigate potential liabilities

Regency’s Crisis Management Team is comprised of various members of the Executive and Operating Committees, Human Resources, Property Operations, Legal, Risk Management, and Communications teams. This Team evaluates and assists in responding to significant safety, criminal, catastrophic weather, construction, and community issues at our shopping centers.

Additionally, Property Operations receives interdepartmental support to enhance the public safety and enjoyment of our centers, including:

Risk Management

Provides loss prevention support aimed at protecting and minimizing liability.

Public Relations

Monitors forums available for expressing concern and facilitating the proper response and handling of our customers’ viewpoints.

Environmental

Proactively addresses potential environmental liabilities through assessments as well as ongoing monitoring of sites previously identified for remediation activities.

Training

Employees are trained on a variety of issues, including hurricane and earthquake preparedness. Proactive measures are taken to educate and inform any and all stakeholders that could be affected by adverse weather or conditions.

Ethics and Governance

Regency[®]
Centers.

Ethics and Governance

“We Do What Is Right” is a key tenet of our Core Values. We seek to outperform fairly and honestly. We achieve superior performance through our unequalled combination of competitive advantages, never through unethical or illegal business practices. Ensuring Regency operates in accordance with ethical behavior is essential to avoiding negative impacts, minimizing and mitigating risks, and maximizing the positive impacts of our decision-making and business activities.

Our officers, employees, directors, partners, and vendors are expected to follow Regency’s Code of Business Conduct and Ethics.

Regency has established four Board committees, consisting of Audit, Compensation, Investment, and Nominating and Governance. Executive and management committees consist of Operating, Cyber Risk, Employee Benefits, Business Continuity, Technology, and Compliance committees.

Regency’s Compliance Committee influences its culture and ensures Regency is conducting business ethically through the identification and remediation of risks through risk action plans, which are reviewed and updated by the Committee quarterly.

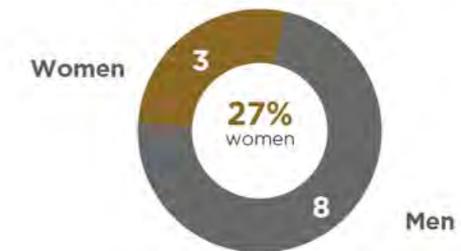

Because of this stalwart adherence to ethical behavior and oversight, Regency consistently receives the highest overall corporate governance score of 1 from shareholder advisory firms such as Institutional Shareholder Services (ISS).

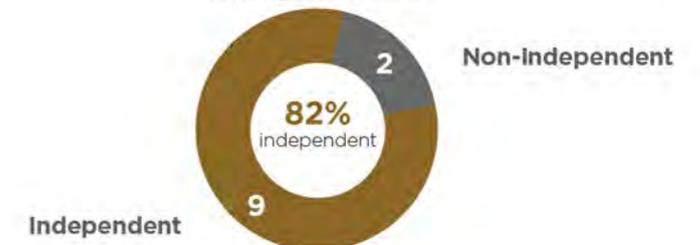

Board of Directors Characteristics

As of 2018 Shareholder Meeting

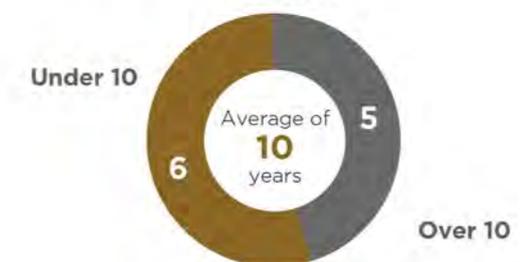

Gender Diversity

Governance

Regency is committed to excellence in corporate governance. In 2017, we developed an Executive Compensation Clawback Policy to ensure that Board members and executives are incentivized appropriately. The Board of Directors believes that good governance depends — above all — on setting the right tone at the top. The Board encourages directors and senior management to observe the highest standards of integrity and personal conduct at all times as an example for the entire organization. Board members possess the characteristics that are expected of all directors; namely, integrity, sound business judgment, and a willingness to represent the long-term interests of all stakeholders, including our investors.

Regency believes that the quality, dedication, and chemistry of the Board have been integral to the Company’s success. To ensure these vital characteristics are maintained in the future, the Board adopted a Board Succession Plan in 2014, laying out a thoughtful, measured path to Board refreshment. The plan was re-evaluated and updated in 2017 to include, among other things, enhancement of Board diversity. In just three years since the adoption of Regency’s Board succession plan, and upon the election of the director nominees at the annual shareholders’ meeting in 2017, we have achieved a significant refreshment of our Board. As a result of this effort, our Board reflects greater diversity and a balanced set of perspectives and backgrounds. This helps preserve the quality, dedication, and chemistry of our Board.

In 2017, Regency’s Board composition was 91% independent (10 out of 11) and now, following the 2018 Annual Shareholders Meeting, is 82% independent (9 out of 11). The Board’s Compensation, Audit, and Nominating and Governance committees are comprised 100% of independent directors, qualified as such under the listing standards of the applicable stock exchange.

In 2018, we achieved continued refreshment of our Board of Directors with the addition of Deirdre J. Evens and Lisa Palmer, increasing the number of female board members to three and female composition to 27%.

All Board members are up for election each year. Our Board members consistently receive greater than 90% of the vote.

Ethics

Regency's Code of Business Conduct and Ethics includes an ethical decision-making model to assist employees. This encourages employees to seek guidance from a trusted leader. It also instructs employees to communicate any suspected improprieties or attempts to circumvent controls to a supervisor, department leader, or a trusted officer. Our Compliance Committee has established internal investigation and disciplinary review policies.

The Code also lists other available employee resources, including the Human Resources, Legal, and Internal Audit teams, plus any member of the Compliance Committee, and the AlertLine: Regency's whistleblower hotline. Calls to the AlertLine are kept confidential and can be made anonymously. It is also available for external constituents — including vendors and shareholders.

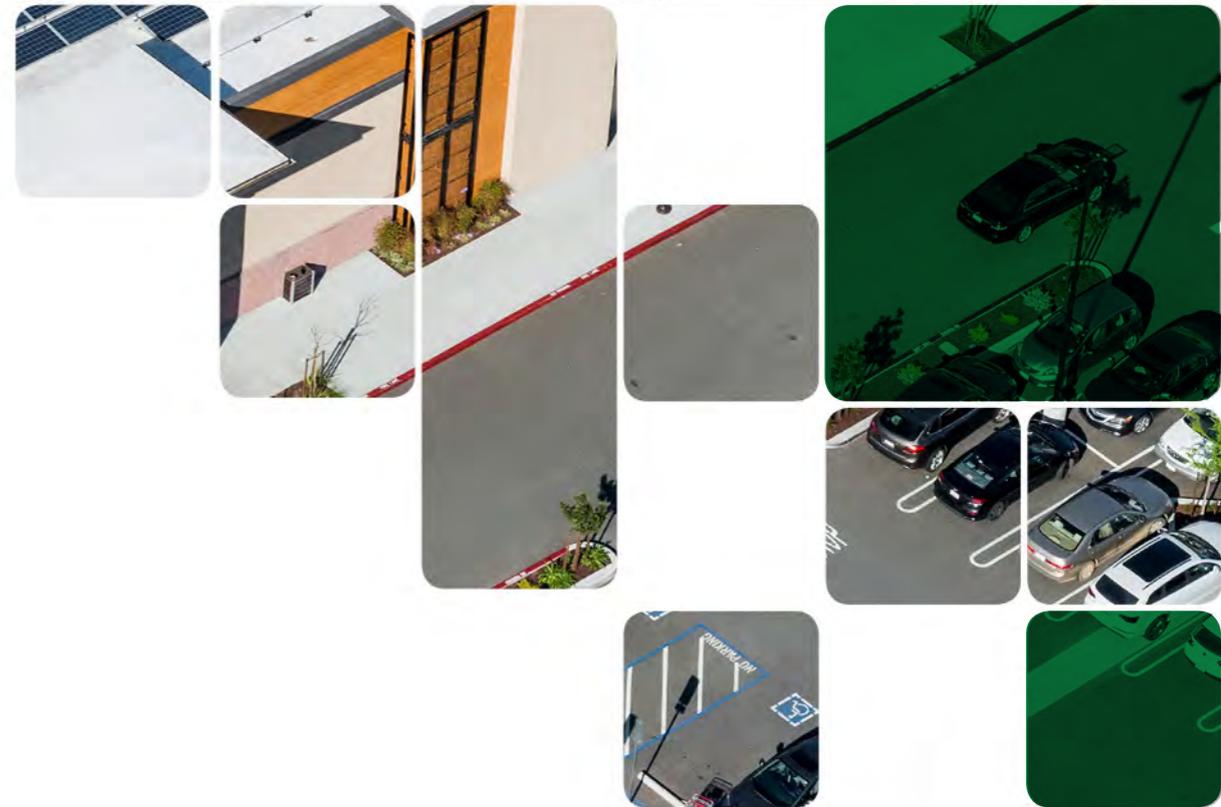

In addition to the Code training, which includes information on anti-retaliation policies and requires 100% participation, the Company has also initiated a "Speak Up" program. This ensures employees are aware of communication resources to report unethical behavior. The training emphasizes that retaliation is not tolerated. All procedures are compliant with applicable whistleblower laws.

As noted in "Our People," the annual employee engagement survey includes specific questions on trust, respect for immediate managers, and employees' comfort in reporting concerns to a manager or trusted officer without fear of retaliation.

Environmental Stewardship

Regency[®]
Centers.

Village at La Floresta | Los Angeles, CA

Environmental Stewardship

Our approach to environmental stewardship focuses on integrating management responsibilities across our development and operations to address material environmental topics such as air pollution, climate change, and resource scarcity. We accomplish this by focusing on these five strategic priorities: green building, energy efficiency, greenhouse gas emission reductions, water conservation, and waste management. Environmental stewardship is not only the right thing to do, but it also supports the company in achieving key strategic objectives, leads to better risk management, improves our communities, and strengthens our relationships with critical stakeholders.

Sustainable Building Practices

We have been at the forefront of the green building movement for shopping centers for the past decade. Our early leadership position has allowed us to develop an unparalleled track record of delivering retail shopping centers that are more resource-efficient, utilize sustainable building materials, address occupant health, better connectivity to the surrounding community, and achieve some of the highest levels of green building recognition.

Between 2009 and 2017, we developed 16 neighborhood shopping centers that were certified under the United States Green Building Council's Leadership in Environmental and Energy Design (LEED) system — more than any other retail developer in the U.S. Our LEED certified projects are often transit-oriented that incorporate high-efficiency HVAC systems, better insulation, LED lighting, low-flow plumbing fixtures and irrigation systems, and other sustainable building materials.

Regency developed more LEED-certified centers than any other retail developer in the U.S. between 2009 and 2017.

The LEED Green Building Rating System is a voluntary, third-party standard for the design and construction of high-performance, sustainable buildings.

In 2014, Regency was the first U.S. REIT, and second U.S. corporation, to issue a Green Bond. Green Bonds are used to finance and promote environmentally sustainable projects. Our $250 million Green Bond provided funding for LEED-certified development and redevelopment projects.

In 2017, we implemented Regency’s Green Building Standard that we apply to all ground-up developments and major redevelopments. This standard, which incorporates many of the same design elements and construction practices that are included in LEED, ensures that all of our projects achieve a higher level of green building performance relative to conventional development practices.

Sustainable Operations

As the preeminent owner, operator and developer of shopping centers we believe it is our responsibility to be an industry leader in driving better environmental performance within our operating portfolio.

In 2012 we established 10-year goals based on industry-leading benchmarks to reduce the environmental impacts of our operating portfolio in three key areas: energy use, greenhouse gas emissions, and water consumption. Our goals were to reduce like-for-like energy consumption by 20%, reduce greenhouse gas emissions by 20%, and to reduce water use by 10%.

Our team demonstrated steadfast commitment to our environmental performance goals, and in 2017 we announced that we achieved each of our reduction targets five years ahead of plan. Looking forward, we will continue our industry-leading environmental stewardship and will set new goals to drive better environmental performance in our pursuit of excellence.

Greenhouse Gas Emissions

We are committed to reducing our greenhouse gas emissions – predominantly electricity consumed in the common areas of our portfolio – and supporting our tenants and shopping center customers to reduce theirs. Nearly all of our environmental stewardship initiatives support our vision of a carbon-neutral future.

Our aggregate efforts have made a significant impact. In 2017, we reduced our like-for-like Scope 1 and 2 greenhouse gas emissions by 4.1%, and achieved a 33.9% cumulative reduction since 2011.

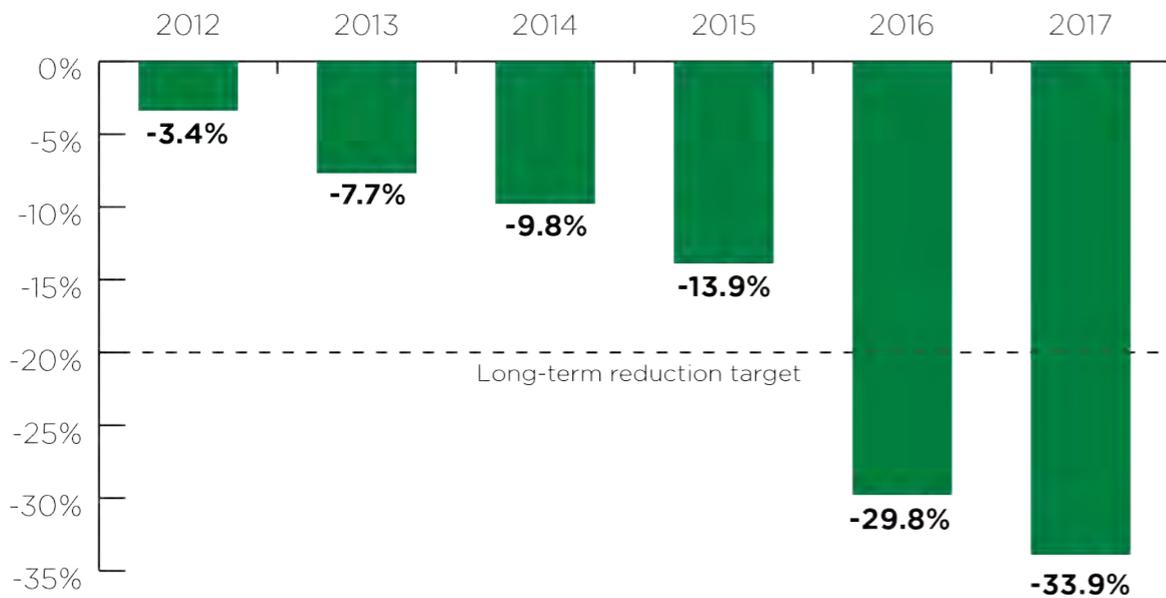

Energy Efficiency

Exterior common area lighting represents approximately 90% of Regency’s total energy consumption, and is our largest source of greenhouse gas emissions. Traditional shopping-center lighting is energy intensive, and often results in significant light pollution. Regency’s biggest opportunity to reduce energy is to replace our existing lighting systems with energy-efficient LED and wireless control technologies.

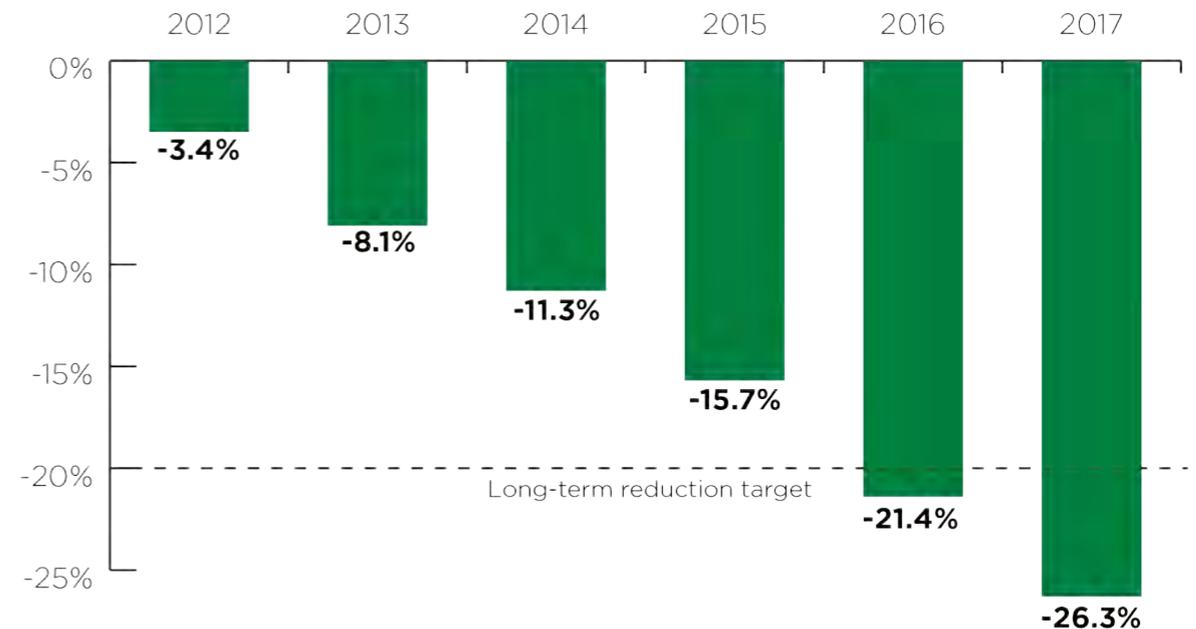

To date we have converted more than 150 of our shopping centers to highly efficient DarkSky™ compliant LED fixtures. On average, these energy-efficient projects reduce energy use by nearly 60% while also improving property aesthetics and safety.

Our lighting efficiency efforts have led to large reductions in energy use. In 2017, we reduced our like-for-like energy consumption 4.9%, and achieved a 26.3% cumulative reduction since 2011.

Renewable Energy

Regency is focused on expanding the use of renewable energy technologies at our shopping centers and sharing the benefits of affordable, clean power with our tenants and local communities. At the end of 2017, we had solar systems installed at 16 of our shopping centers that produced approximately 4,600-megawatt hours of clean renewable power each year. These solar systems prove that renewable energy can compete with traditional fossil fuels by reducing costs and greenhouse gas emissions, providing benefits to our shareholders, tenants, and communities.

Regency is committed to seeking opportunities to further expand the use of renewable energy throughout our portfolio.

Electric Vehicle Charging

Since 2012 we have been a leader in supporting the development of a national network of EV charging stations, which enables more sustainable transportation options in the communities we serve. By the end of the reporting period, we had 170 EV charging stations installed at 49 properties, providing customers with a modern amenity while also enabling them to directly reduce their carbon footprint. In 2017 alone, use of our EV charging stations offset more than 780,000 pounds of CO2 emissions.

Water

We strive to use water efficiently in our day-to-day operations as we recognize that water is an essential resource. The largest use of water within our control is for landscape irrigation. To conserve water, we focus on strategies that balance our desire to use water resources more efficiently while also providing shade and pedestrian-oriented landscape areas for the community to enjoy. Examples of water-efficient landscape projects we have successfully implemented include:

- Installation of high-efficiency irrigation systems at more than 130 shopping centers. This includes “smart” controllers that adjust schedules based on local weather conditions to optimize irrigation run times.
- Replacing turf grass and other water intensive landscaping plantings with native and drought-tolerant plants, along with the use of reclaimed water provided by the local utility providers.

Combined, these best practices enabled us to reduce like-for-like water consumption 4.3% in 2017, and achieve a 17.2% cumulative reduction since 2011.

Waste

In partnership with our tenants and network of local recyclers, composters, and rubbish haulers, we work to promote responsible waste management practices across our shopping center portfolio. While recycling programs vary significantly based on local recycling infrastructure, space constraints at shopping centers, and — most importantly — tenant participation, we continuously strive to provide facilities and haul services that enable retailers to collect recyclable and compostable materials on-site.

In 2016 we set a 10-year goal to improve waste diversion at our shopping centers by 10% by 2025. As of 2017, we have increased our diversion rate by 1% but we believe through increased tenant engagement we will reach our 2025 goal.

102-9	Supply chain	Regency disburses approximately $715 million to nearly 7,000 vendors for services, annually. Regency's extensive vendor base is a result of owning and operating more than 400 shopping centers and developing to a target of $200 to $300 million per year. Approximately one third of the expense and vendor base that Regency contracts with is attributable to corporate support functions and general liabilities including insurance, taxes, employee welfare and legal costs generally associated with corporate administration. The remaining costs are related to capital investments and general operating expenses necessary to develop, refurbish, and maintain Regency's shopping centers. In that regard, the vast majority of vendors are locally sourced by regional teams while other vendors are contracted to provide support on a national scale.
102-10	Significant changes to the organization and its supply chain	On March 1, 2017, Regency completed its merger with Equity One Inc. ("Equity One"), whereby Equity One merged with and into Regency. Under the terms of the Merger Agreement, each Equity One stockholder received 0.45 of a newly issued share of Regency common stock for each share of Equity One common stock owned immediately prior to the effective time of the merger resulting in approximately 65.5 million shares being issued to effect the merger. As a result of the merger, Regency's portfolio and vendor base increased in regions where a higher concentration of properties was acquired: New York metro area, Miami/Ft. Lauderdale, FL, and San Francisco Bay area.

GRI 103 Management Approach (2016): Health and Safety and Product Responsibility
103-1, 103-2, 103-3		This is material to Regency, its tenants, and shopping center customers because providing a safe and secure environment increases the likelihood of operating a successful shopping center. High-quality tenants draw customers; however, a safe environment retains their continued business. These topics are managed by the Senior Vice President of Operations and executed by Regency’s in-house Property Management team, which performs frequent property inspections to identify property level maintenance and repair needs, including those related to safety. Tenants can submit improvement opportunities and needs through work order submissions on Regency’s corporate website and in annual tenant surveys. A safe and secure shopping center is fundamental to a customer’s overall experience and Regency is able to monitor its effectiveness in this area, as well as the overall success of a shopping center, through occupancy rates, tenant sales and health.

In addition, Regency also conducts environmental assessments, especially on acquisitions and development projects, and performs ongoing monitoring of sites previously identified for remediation activities.	24
Environment		Environmental stewardship is a central component of Regency’s corporate responsibility program and we are committed to continually improving our performance through our environmental management system. Our Vice President of Sustainability is directly responsible for environmental policy, strategic planning, goal setting and performance monitoring. This role reports to the Senior Vice President of Operations weekly, Chief Operating Officer quarterly and Board of Directors annually. These more senior stakeholders continually evaluate program effectiveness through monitoring of internal performance metrics, peer benchmarking, and stakeholder feedback. The boundaries of Regency’s environmental impacts vary significantly based on the business unit they are associated with and whether we have ‘operational control’, which is defined as operations for which the company has the full authority to implement its policies and practices. In our development program, we have varying levels of operational control, depending on tenant type and lease specifications. In the operating portfolio, our area of control is typically limited to exterior common areas. For impacts associated with our properties but outside our operational control, typically tenant controlled areas, Regency actively engages stakeholders to promote and facilitate environmental responsibility. Material topics under this category include: “302 Energy,” “303 Water,” “305 Emissions,” “306 Waste and Effluents”, and “307 Environmental Compliance.”

GRI 101: Foundations (2016)
GRI 102: General Disclosures (2016)
103-1, 103-2, 103-3		Energy is a significant operating expense and is the largest source of greenhouse gas emissions for Regency, and is also a material environmental issue for our retailers and communities. Regency is committed to reducing energy consumption within our properties, achieving carbon-neutrality for our Scope 1 and 2 greenhouse gas emissions and facilitating energy and emission reductions across our value-chain. In our development program, Regency is focused on developing energy-efficient buildings utilizing low-emission construction practices. In the operating portfolio, Regency continually monitors its energy consumption using a data acquisition system that enables utility and / or sub-meter level usage tracking, which is continually analyzed to identify energy conservation and emission reduction opportunities. Additionally, we strive to promote emissions reductions by partnering with tenants to expand the use of renewable energy and the use of electrified transportation at our properties. For 2017, our energy and greenhouse goals were as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ Short-term: reduce like-for-like energy consumption and greenhouse gas emissions by 2% from prior year ■ Long-term: reduce like-for-like energy consumption and greenhouse gas emissions by 20% by 2021, from 2011 base year
GRI 302 Energy (2016)
302-1	Energy consumption within the organization	a. Total fuel consumption from non-renewable sources: natural gas, 2,602 MWh b. Total fuel consumption from renewable sources: 0 c. Total electricity consumption: 67,603 MWh d. Total photovoltaic solar electricity generated: 4,606 MWh e. Total energy consumption: 70,205 MWh f. Energy, water and greenhouse gas emissions have been inventoried using an organization boundary that aligned with the Operational Control approach as defined by The Greenhouse Gas Protocol: A Corporate Accounting and Reporting Standard (Revised Edition). Regency's boundaries of operational control are confined to common areas and vacant premises, and exclude tenants' premises within the operating portfolio as well as Regency's leased corporate offices.
302-2	Energy consumption outside the organization	591,987 MWh of tenant energy consumption (Scope 3); Regency is limited in its ability to collect Tenant energy consumption data as most leased spaces are separately metered for fuels and electricity. Data provided is limited in scope and represents only those leased spaces from tenant meters paid directly by Regency, and data from tenant meters that Regency is required to collect and disclose for compliance with state and local energy disclosure requirements.
302-3	Energy intensity	.00125 MWh per square foot of gross lettable area; energy consumption (fuel and purchased electricity) within Regency Center's operational control (Scope 1 and 2) divided by total square feet of gross lettable area
302-4	Reduction of energy consumption	Environmental Stewardship 2,307 MWh reduction of like-for-like energy consumption from 2016; includes energy consumption (fuel and purchased electricity) within Regency Center's operational control (Scope 1 and 2)	32-34
GRI 305 Emissions (2016)
305-1	Direct (Scope 1) GHG emissions	a. 469 MT CO2e c. CO2, CH4, N2O e. 2014 Climate Registry Default Emission Factors (SAR - 100 year) f. Operational control g. The Greenhouse Gas Protocol: A Corporate Accounting and Reporting Standard (Revised Edition). Since a large majority of HVAC units are operated and maintained by tenants, and therefore are outside of Regency's operational control, fugitive emissions are omitted in their entirety from the figure above.
305-2	Energy-indirect (Scope 2) GHG emissions	a. 31,812 MT CO2e c. CO2, CH4, N2O e. U.S. E.P.A. eGRID10th Edition Year 2014 Data, Version 2.0 (SAR - 100 year) f. GRI G4 CRE Sector Supplement Disclosure
CRE 2	Building Water Intensity	8.46 gallons water consumption within Regency Center’s operational control (Scope 1 and 2) divided by total square feet of gross lettable area
CRE 5	Land Degradation, Contamination and Remediation	Approximately 70 environmental clean-ups were underway at Regency properties during the reporting period. These efforts included soil and groundwater remediation as well as vapor intrusion mitigation. Many of these clean-ups are attributable to impacts from historic land use practices encountered during urban infill developments or brownfield redevelopments. Other clean-ups are frequently the results of past dry cleaner and gas station operations.
